Mr. Lindenfeld received his B.A. from Cornell University College of Architecture in 1971. He subsequently worked for various firms as an urban designer and architect, including as in-house architect for the New York branch of Didier Aaron.

He began his own practice specializing in high-end interiors here in the New York City in 1979.

With his architectural background, he has developed a working method that ensures the seamless integration between interior design and the architectural “envelope.” His many years of experience has taught him that it is necessary to bridge the two disciplines in order to produce a quality interior where the architectural and decorative elements are harmonious, correct and consistent.

Mr. Lindenfeld provides a full range of personalized attentive service to an American and European clientele. While most of his work is in the New York area, he has also completed projects in Connecticut, Michigan, and Minnesota, often for challenging private clients who are collectors and sophisticated in the world of art and design.
